

Sustainable Communities IN MARYLAND

Sustainable Communities Advocacy Day in Annapolis

Wednesday, January 27, 2010

Open to All Marylanders Concerned About the Future of Housing, Transportation Options, the Environment, and Mitigating the Effects of Climate Change

WHAT:

The members of the Governor's Smart Growth Subcabinet are holding an event to launch the State's Sustainable Communities Initiative of 2010.

Maryland has been at the forefront of many policy innovations to improve access to affordable housing, create more transportation options and lower costs, while investing in cities, protecting the environment, and mitigating the effects of climate change.

Lunch will be served. Please RSVP with Roz Hamlett: (410) 767-0902 or rhamlett@mdp.state.md.us or visit Planning.Maryland.gov to respond online.

INVITED SPEAKERS:

Richard E. Hall, Secretary, MD Dept. of Planning & Chair of Smart Growth Subcabinet (confirmed)

Raymond A. Skinner, Secretary, MD Dept. of Housing & Community Development (confirmed)

Beverly K. Swaim-Staley, Secretary, MD Dept. of Transportation

Christian S. Johansson, Secretary, MD Dept. of Business & Economic Development (confirmed)

Chuck Fox, Advisor to the EPA Administrator, U. S. EPA (confirmed)

Jon M. Laria, Chair of the Growth Task Force and Partner, Ballard Spahr LLP (confirmed)

John E. Kortecamp, Executive Vice President, Home Builders Association of Maryland

Dru Schmidt-Perkins, Executive Director, 1000 Friends of Maryland (confirmed)

Tyler Gearhart, Executive Director of Preservation Maryland (confirmed)

Adam Ortiz, Mayor of Edmonston and Deputy Chief of Staff to Anthony Brown (confirmed)

Kim Coble, Maryland Executive Director, Chesapeake Bay Foundation (confirmed)

WHEN:

Wednesday, January 27, 2010 at 10:00 a.m.

WHERE:

Miller Conference West; Miller Senate Office Building; 11 Bladen St.; Annapolis

Maryland Department of Planning
Planning.Maryland.gov